DESCRIPTION OF MOTION PICTURE (NOT A PHOTO-PLAY) KNOWN BY THE TITLE OF THE BERRY SCHOOLS

#2
This picture begins with a view of an old southern homestead; a woman, Miss Martha Berry, is seated on the porch and is served with a glass of water; after a close up of the home, the picture shows Miss Berry of yesterday in a close up and later leaving the house for Possum Trot.

The scene then shifts to the Hog Farm and the Dairy Barns.

Without any definite plot the picture continues with pictures of various buildings, individuals and groups. There are also shots of mountain and country cabins with members of the occupants families and Miss Martha Berry.

Incidents of the early school life are depicted and scattered thru the first part of the film.

Later in the film the new buildings are shown and there is a panorama of the boys school and one of the girls school to take in all the buildings.

The children of Faith Cottage are shown as are the various activities of the girls school, such as sewing class, spinning lesson, girls in the greenhouse, etc.

The Mountain Farm School and its activities include a picture of the boys on the steps of the dormitory, the angora goats, a swimming scene, tractor plowing, and other features.

In all there are about three thousand feet of film.
